Educational Materials Distribution

If you're responsible for printing and distributing class or homework packets, you may be struggling to find the staff and resources to prepare materials to support your efforts. Scantron can help save time and effort managing your delivery programs.

Could you use some help with the logistics related to distributing homework packets?

Benefit from capabilities and processes that Scantron has developed over decades to support large-scale educational programs. We may already be printing your test booklets and answer sheets—let Scantron help design, print, and distribute homework packets as well.

We can support your district-created materials by printing and collating individual student packets into kits. We can package and ship those kits to your distribution center or directly to students at home, freeing your resources for other critical tasks.

Options include:

- Printing and collating packets
- Kitting packets with student tools such as:
 - › Pens/pencils
 - › Rulers
 - › Protractors
- Packing by bus route, student, or other criteria.
- Shipping to a district, its schools, or directly to students' homes
